The appointment of a committee of nine to meet with a committee of the Business Men's cooperative association and the launching of plans for a new building were outstanding features of the meeting of the Central Labor Union last night.

No date for a meeting of the two committees to discuss labor enterprises had been set this afternoon; however it was said today that a meeting of the two committees probably would not be held until a referendum has been taken on the propositions of insurance, the committee and income. The propositions were drawn up at a meeting of representatives of the Building Trades Council and Contractors association Sunday. The outcome of the referendum vote of the crafts is to be placed before the council at week from tonight.

The main business of the council tonight is to elect president. On the question of successor to William N. Phillips, who resigned as president at the last meeting.

BESSIE BARRISCALE

A Woman Who Understood

Love to man is a thing apart—The woman's whole existence.

With male genius, art or his profession may drive him forth to seek new surroundings, new faces and new success—but with woman—love is life—and life is love—the great love that is everlasting.

As artist, true enough she was, but her genius she cast to the winds for the man she loved.

But he, an artist too, was drawn away from the one person he could have loved unconditionally by the wife of another, who he thought, could further his art.

And then the test that all true love must undergo—and she failed him. The woman's sacrifice for the man who had stayed because of her—and neither would she let him.

But true love, the first love, proved again the old adage.

Bessie Barriscale in the role of the loving wife proves again her unceasing ability as a screen artist of the first magnitude in a story that is human, interesting and replete with heart thrills.
